TROOP 7
FOREST CITY, FLORIDA

Our scoutmaster made reservations for our troop to go to Camp Rainey Mountain in Georgia for summer camp. He arranged for us to stay at the Jefferson campsite, the highest, most remote campsite that was available at Rainey Mountain. Unfortunately, he was unable to go with us, but a scout troop without a scoutmaster is unthinkable, so we made an effigy of Bob to come with us, these are his adventures.

Scoutmaster Bob led the way throughout the trip, but had trouble getting around camp, so we provided him with a taxi service.

Scoutmaster Bob participated in many of the activities that Rainey Mountain offers, archery, cooking, swimming and boating.

Scoutmaster Bob even made some new friends at camp that took him fishing one day.

The adults are encouraged to hike some of the local trails while visiting Rainey Mountain, Scoutmaster Bob (with some help) was up to the challenge.

He had so much fun hiking to Big Rock that he decided to try some rock climbing.

Luckily, Bob had no mishaps, but some of the Assistant Scoutmasters did have a talk with him about using the proper equipment for high adventure activities. Hopefully Bob has learned his lesson.

On the way down from Big Rock, Bob had some more adventures, including encounters with wild animals, and proved once and for all that scoutmasters do it in the woods.

After all the strenuous activity, Scoutmaster Bob gave a demonstration on the proper use of one of Rainey Mountains best activities for adult leaders.
